CEMENT SIDEWALK FOR LINCOLN AVE.

SAID IMPROVEMENT WILL COST CITY ABOUT $62.03—PART OF ORDINANCE 131.

The board of local improvements held a short meeting after last night's meeting of the city council, at which time the estimate of City Engineer Nesbit for a cement sidewalk on Lincoln avenue was approved.

The sidewalk considered is an extension of a sidewalk provided for in ordinance 131, which was passed some time ago, the supplementary walk being across Factory street and across Ninth street. The estimated cost of the extension is placed at $62.03.

After approving the estimate the board passed a resolution modifying the original scheme to conform with the supplementary walk, and filed an ordinance to amend ordinance No. 131 to meet the changes.

LOCAL TEAM BELIEVES IT CAN TAKE UNIFORMS OFF OF THE PRIDE OF STERLING.

The Dixon Stars are endeavoring to close arrangements with the management of the Sterling West Ends for the appearance of that team in Dixon a week from Saturday. The Stars are not satisfied with the questionable defeat handed them at Sterling last Sunday and would like to play them here, where both teams can get a square deal. Under straight conditions the Stars are confident they can take the uniforms off the prides of Sterling, and a large number of Dixon fans will back them in that belief.

CHILD SHOT BY SPENT BULLET

BABY HAS LUCKY ESCAPE FROM HARM WHEN STRUCK IN ABDOMEN BY BULLET.

Rockford, Sept. 10.—Special to Telegraph.—Careless shooting of a rifle came near proving disastrous today when a spent bullet struck a son of Fred Messenger, Jackson street, but did not penetrate the skin.

The child, aged two and one-half years, was playing in the yard when he was struck by a 22-calibre bullet. The missile produced a severe bruise on the abdomen and the skin was barely broken.

YOUNGSTERS ELOPE.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 10.—Miss Grace Beach, 13 years old, daughter of a well known local citizen, and Fred Tucker, aged 16, son of an Evansville tobacco manufacturer, eloped to Mount Vernon, Ind., today and were married. Their parents tried to prevent the elopement.

COUNCIL HELD UNEVENTFUL MEETING

REFERRED PROPERTY OWNERS' PETITION FOR SIDEWALK TO LOCAL BOARD.

MISS M'GRAIL TAKES OATH

City Engineer Nesbit to Prepare Estimate of Cost of Walk on Noble Avenue.

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID. Confirmed the appointment of Miss Kathryn McGrail as Deputy City Clerk and administered oath of office to her.

Referred petition of three property owners on Noble avenue for cement sidewalk to board of local improvements, and instructed City Engineer Nesbit to prepare estimate on the work.

Last night's meeting of the city council was just what it was anticipated it would be—uneventful. Before the calling of the roll Miss Kathryn McGrail was appointed Deputy City Clerk, and the oath of office was given, after which she took charge of the minutes of the meeting.

A petition signed by Jacob Trough, Mrs. Lulu Kallbelsch and Jacob Fraelich was presented, asking the council to provide for a cement sidewalk on Noble avenue 200 feet north of Second street. The petitioners allege that the old board walk there is dangerous to life and limb. The council instructed the engineer to prepare an estimate of the cost of the walk, and referred the matter to the board of local improvements.

HIGH PRICED FARM STARTS SOMETHING

DYSART FARM BRINGS $213 PER ACRE—RAILROAD TAX AGENTS MAY APPEAR BEFORE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

A revaluation of real estate values on Lee county is the very probable result of the sale of the Dysart farm in China township last week for $213 per acre. It is understood that tax agents of the various railroad companies have taken the matter up and will go before the state board of equalization and attempt to show that they are paying more than their proportion of the taxes in the county, as there is no farm land in the county assessed that high.

The result of the high price paid for the farm will undoubtedly be either a reduction of the taxes of the railroad companies or a revaluation of Lee county lands, which will increase the valuation greatly.

LOCAL ICE CO. BUSY INDUSTRY

NEARLY 50 CARLOADS OF THE CRYSTAL BEING SHIPPED EVERY DAY.

The Dixon Pure Ice company is one of the busiest industries in Dixon this season and ice famines in the surrounding country are resulting in an avalanche of orders for the local concern. Nearly 50 carloads of the crystal are being shipped from the local ice houses daily and many more would be shipped if sufficient cars could be secured. Mr. Watson reports an unusually large number to orders daily and his force is taxed to capacity.

BETTER HAVE KEPT

THAT BOY, HUBER. Peoria Journal: Clarence Rowland of Dubuque is doubtless standing on his head and clawing his hair about this time. Carl Huber, the Dixon lad who was signed by Rowland and released without a trial, pitched a no-hit game the other day against the Forrester Independents, winning 9 to 1. An error gave Forrester its only tally.

"ZIGGY" WITNESSES STARS PLAY BALL

WITH STERLING AN DWITES GAMT UP FOR CHICAGO RECORD HERALD.

Ziggy, Cartoonist Ed. Mack's creation, appears in this morning's Chicago Record Herald as a big league baseball scout. He purports to have attended a ball game between Dixon and Sterling, and writes to the captain of his team as follows:

Dixon: Dear Cap—The game between Dixon and Sterling was almost called off because the pitcher of the Sterling team failed to show up. Only one-half of the Sterling battery was on the job. However, a fellow in the grand stand volunteered to twirl for the Sterling team, and I must say he's some pitcher. The Dixon batters were so scared of his speed that they wouldn't stand up to the plate. The Sterling catcher would throw the ball back to the pitcher after it was stopped by the backstop. The Dixon players struck out one after the other and I must say that this pitcher could stand the Giants and McGraw on their heads four times in a week. This pitcher is almost as good as I was before my arm got stiff. The owner of a livery stable wanted to give the mysterious stranger a job, but I beat him to it. I signed this fellow up for three years at a salary of $4,500 a year. Yours, Ziggy.

P. S.—You've probably heard of this pitcher. His name is Remus Jackson and he used to play with the Chicago Giants. He says he's distantly related to Jack Johnson. Yours, Ziggy.

LOCAL OPTION WINS OUT

Arkansas Election Returns Indicate That Prohibition Was Defeated.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 10.—Incomplete returns from the general election indicate the victory of the local option against the state-wide prohibition forces. Thomas A. Wright, secretary of the Local Option league, states prohibition has been defeated by a majority of 40,000. Charges of fraud on the part of the prohibition forces here and in Argenta have been made. The Democratic ticket, headed by Representative Joe T. Robinson for governor, is conceded election. The fate of the recall and grandfather clause amendments are not known.

PRISONER ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

MAN IN STEPHENSON COUNTY JAIL DRINKS A GLASS OF DISINFECTANT.

Freeport Journal: Herman Wienand, who is in the county jail awaiting trial and against whom an indictment was returned yesterday by the grand jury, made an unsuccessful attempt to end his life in his cell in the county jail last evening by drinking about six ounces of a mixture used for disinfecting purposes. Dr. Burns was called and after working over Wienand for more than an hour the man's life was saved, although he is in a critical condition and suffering great pain.

The mixture which Wienand took is of a poisonous nature, being made of gasoline, formaldehyde, carbolic acid, oil of cedar, permanganate of potash, bichloride of mercury and other ingredients. The mixture is purchased by the barrel and each morning a certain quantity of it is placed in the various cells and other parts of the jail. The prisoners are allowed to place the mixture where it is desired and to disinfect the jail with sprayers.

Because of Mrs. Walders' mental and physical condition she was given a light fine, the court holding her to pay a fine of $50 and serving one day in jail. Her husband, however, must serve 30 days in the county bastille and pay a fine of $1.

HIRAM JOHNSON WELL RECEIVED

BULL MOOSE CANDIDATE GREETED BY SEVERAL HUNDRED PERSONS.

INTRODUCED BY SENATOR FUNK

Johnson Declares "People Must Rule" and Funk Says "I Will Be Governor."

Between 300 and 400 men, women and children gathered at the Illinois Central depot this noon to hear Senator Frank Funk and Governor Hiram Johnson of California, the Bull Moose candidate for vice president. The governor was introduced by Senator Funk, who wants to be governor of Illinois.

The special train made a stop at Polo, and rolled into the south side depot nearly an hour late. The stop at Polo caused the delay.

The special stopped 15 minutes, and in that time Funk told why he ought to be elected governor of Illinois and Gov. Johnson went over some of the proceedings of the recent republican national convention—the convention that would not nominate "Teddy."

Johnson is a dignified, quiet and forceful speaker. He speaks slowly, and his words go down deep. He was applauded frequently. Funk got the loudest applause when he declared he was going to be elected governor in November.

People were here from several of the towns in Lee and Whiteside counties. Sterling sent five or six representative Bull Moosers.

Accompanying Johnson were Fletcher Dobyns, Bull Moose candidate for attorney general; Mrs. Raymond Robbins, who is speaking for the party, and the party's candidate for auditor.

"Ted" Phillips of the Chicago Tribune was among the newspaper fraternity on the train. He stopped off a few minutes to greet his friends in Dixon.

R. W. Thompson and State Committeeman Fordham met the governor at Polo and accompanied the distinguished party to Dixon.

POLAR BEARS WITH BIG CIRCUS

HAGENBECK & WALLACE SHOWS CARRY LARGE ARCTIC MENAGERIE.

The strange, savage and beautiful living wonders of the natural kingdom have never been so comprehensively exhibited as they are now in the United Carl Hagenbeck and Great Wallace shows enormous menageries, and will be shown here on September 20th.

The latest addition to the rare wild beast wonders is a whole Arctic menagerie which actually includes ten living, full grown Polar bears a greater number than any explorer ever saw together at one time. Even the Ice Trust would wince at the cost and trouble involved in securing such a cold water congress. Moreover, the entire collection is a rarely splendid one, educated to do all kinds of stunts, including walking a rope, sliding the toboggan, walking on a globe and other feats. The collection is full of interest and instruction, merits your attention, and the management hopes will receive it. The circus and hippodrome performances do not begin until an hour after the opening of the menagerie doors; and at their conclusion you will have another opportunity to study these zoological treasures. Plenty of seats are provided for all in the huge hippodrome tent, so don't rush blindly to secure one. Take your time and see everything, for it is well worth seeing.

Got Back at the Judge.

A celebrated engineer, being examined at a trial where both the judge and counsel tried in vain to browbeat him, made use in his evidence of the expression, "the creative power of a mechanic," on which the judge rather tartly asked him what he meant by "the creative power of a mechanic." "Why, my lord," said the engineer, "I mean that power which enables a man to convert a goat's tail into a judge's wig."

Henry VIII, the King With Six Wives

THIS is the story of a king who, for 18 years of his reign was one of the best and greatest monarchs in all history; and who, during his last 20 years was a monster. He was Henry VIII.

Henry VIII, of England, Henry's father had educated him for the priesthood, when his elder brother, Arthur, died; thus making Henry heir to the English throne. Arthur had been married to Catherine of Aragon, who brought him a dowry of 200,000 crowns. Sooner than to return this large dowry, the miserly old king married Catherine to Henry. She was some years older than her boy husband and a totally unfit wife for such a youth.

In 1509 Henry VIII, became king. He was eighteen years old and the most popular man in his kingdom. Handsome, athletic, jolly, clever, he was the exact opposite of his miser father. England was weak from long civil wars and bad rule. She had sunk almost to the level of a third rate power.

Henry quickly changed all this. With splendid statesmanship he steadily lifted his country to a foremost rank among Europe's nations. He won victories against French and Scottish foes. Education and commerce thrived. The land waxed rich and happy. For writing a church book Henry received from the pope the title of "Defender of the Faith." A prosperous, contented nation, daily increasing in greatness, was ruled by a wise, just and beloved king.

So much for the first 18 years. Then came the change—a change that turned a hero king into a blackguard. A change no historian has been able to explain. It was caused in the first place by a woman.

Henry's wife, Catherine of Aragon, was growing old. He was still in his prime. She was homely, severe, solemn—his opposite in all things. They had had two sons, who had died in earliest infancy. Their only living child was a sickly daughter (who later became Queen Mary). Henry, up to this time, had treated his elderly wife kindly enough. There was no stain on his private life. His morals were unusually good, his career free from scandal. But, after nearly a score of years on the throne, he suddenly fell in love with Anne Boleyn, one of Catherine's ladies-in-waiting. Anne was beautiful, weak, vicious; she was decidedly attractive in spite of the fact that she had two thumbs on each hand.

Henry wished to marry her. He declared that his early marriage to his brother's widow was illegal, and sought to have it annulled.

The pope refused to sanction so wicked a plan. Henry, thereupon, threw aside his allegiance to the Catholic church and to the pope, and declared himself the head of all religious institutions in England. Then he proceeded to modify his country's religion and to behold all who would not conform to his new way of thinking. He also abolished England's peaceful monasteries. Catholics who remained loyal to their church and to the pope were slain without mercy or justice. Protestants who objected to Henry's regulations were also put to death. Any man who crossed the monarch's wishes or ideas was executed. Whole families were killed for no better reason than that they obeyed their own consciences rather than the unjust orders of a tyrant. By Catholics and Protestants alike Henry grew to be loathed. His early popularity was drowned in oceans of innocent blood, shed at his cruel orders. Where once he had governed by love he now ruled by inspiring death fears. Some writers say that no less than 75,000 persons were executed during the last 20 years of Henry's reign. This is, perhaps, an exaggeration. But the victims could be numbered by thousands. The once genial, gracious sovereign had become a monster.

Anne Boleyn profited little by her marriage with Henry. Not long after the birth of her daughter (afterward Queen Elizabeth), she was suspected of unfaithfulness and was beheaded by Henry's orders. Next day he married Anne's lady-in-waiting, Jane Seymour. Jane died soon after the birth of her son, Edward. Henry then married Anne of Cleves, a Flemish princess, whom he had never seen. At first sight he fell into a rage, cursed her for a hideous "Flanders mare," and divorced her. Soon afterward he married Catherine Howard. Doubting her loyalty to him, he had her put to death and married his sixth wife, Catherine Parr.

How much oftener he might have gone to the altar, had he lived long enough, cannot be guessed. Ill-health had already begun to disfigure his handsome face, crippled his body and make life an agony for him. On January 28, 1547, he died, in his fifty-sixth year, unmourned, hated; his very memory a thing of horror.

Hymn Led to Matrimony.
To that great hymn, "Lead Kindly Light," have been attributed many strange moral and temperamental effects, but the hymn's first known excursion into the realms of romance was crowned at Los Angeles, Cal., one night recently, with the marriage of Deputy City Prosecutor William D. McConnell and Miss Elizabeth Belle Oliver, a prominent society and club girl, was celebrated. McConnell and his bride both possess excellent voices. One Sunday after a white-gloved frock-coated cupid disguised as an usher had seated McConnell in the same pew with Miss Oliver and her mother, the young attorney was unable to find a hymn book, and Miss Oliver proffered half her hymnal. Together her clear contralto and his powerful tenor swelled and soared through the triumphant notes of the hymn often spoken of as the greatest ever written. When the singers were introduced it was practically all over with them.

Origin of the Word "Picnic."
Fanny Merritt Farmer, cookery editor of the Woman's Home Companion, presents in the August number of that periodical a number of recipes for good things to prepare for picnics. In the course of her article she gives the following explanation of the origin of the word "picnic."

"Years and years ago, when such outings were being planned, it was customary to have a list passed among those who were to furnish the things to eat and drink, and each one picked out the thing she was willing to supply. It was then 'nick'd' off the list. This form of nacking and signifying your choice became known as pick and nick, which soon was changed into picnic, and in due time the word picnic was applied to the entertainment."

Watches Found in Lake.

Interest in the robbery of a Kirkcaldy (Scotland) jeweler's window, which took place about a month ago, was revived, when it became known that two boys the sons of an official on Raith estate, while fishing in Raith lake, had hooked two gentlemen's watches from amongst the mud at the bottom. As a number of gold watches were among the property stolen from the jeweler's shop, it was supposed this might be part of the booty. Information was conveyed to the police, who, however, state that the watches are not those which were stolen in the recent burglary. How the watches came to be in the lake is a mystery.

Curious Resemblance.

The attention of the numerous visitors to the Natural History museum of London was recently directed to the remarkable resemblance between the specimen of the huge African elephant and the small shrew mouse. A distinguished naturalist suggested the comparison and as a result it was found that practically every bone, blood vessel, muscle and nerve in the elephant was found to be the same as in the mouse, which is about two inches in length. A stuffed mouse has recently been placed between the forefeet of the elephant to show the curious resemblance.—Boys' World.

Dr. Cook May Try Again.

To the first newspaper man who called on Dr. Cook in Berlin the explorer said: "My lectures in Germany will not be given for the purpose of making money. I hope simply to make my work known." The reporter says: "Cook has modified his claims. He no longer says, 'I reached the pole,' but 'On April 21, 1908, I arrived at a point on an ice floe which, according to my calculations could be designated as the north pole.'" Cook also spoke hopefully of an expedition to the farthest north point by Zeppelin balloon.

Bars the "Marseillaise."

The kaiser refuses to listen to the revolutionary strains of the "Marseillaise." Since he came to the throne he has never allowed the French national hymn to be played at his court, at any of the state theaters or by any German naval or military band. When he entertains the French ambassador at dinner or receives him in state and wishes to pay him musical honors, he orders the musicians to play the old "Marche de St. Denis," which is in every sense of the word a Bourbon hymn.

Enforce Wireless Telegraph Law.

A fine of $100, the first to be imposed under the wireless telegraph law of 1910, was recently collected from the captain of the coastwise steamer Sabine, for sailing without a wireless operator. The law requires all vessels that carry more than fifty passengers and crew, and to go to two hundred miles or more without stopping, to be equipped with wireless apparatus and to have a wireless operator.

Italy to Aid Farmers.

By the Italian ministry of agriculture industry and commerce 39,300 lire ($7,585) is to be expended in premiums by way of encouraging the constitution of modern improved farm houses and other farm buildings in certain provinces in Italy.

An Ant's View.

Dr. Lyman Abbott, in an anti-suffrage argument in New York, told an anecdote. "I once asked a little girl," he said, "if she knew what a suffrage was. 'Yes, sir,' she replied. 'Well, what is it, then?' said I. 'The wife of a sufferer,' said she."

PLAITING COMING BACK

BECOMING FASHION SURELY ON THE EVE OF RETURN.

Prediction Is That Late Summer and Fall Styles Will Show Revival of Graceful Idea of Many Seasons Ago.

Behold the sun-ray plaiting again in the front place of fashion and convincing in its softness and graceful lines, and the countless opportunities for draping one filmy color over another and obtaining the rainbow effects that are always becoming.

Accordian plaiting is coming with a rush. It is here in a few advanced models of clever makers; but the fashion is too beautiful to be ignored and prediction is here made that the plaited frock is to be a feature of late summer and fall styles.

Can you imagine the grace of a chiffon pannier edged by a deep band of embroidery? The fichu on this same delectable gown is accordian plaited and the waist defined by a wide girdle of panne velvet. Plaited ruffles edge the sleeves and the bottom of the underskirt.

Silk in plain or changeable colors is plaited for entire costumes that are adaptable for little runabout frocks or for elaborate afternoon gowns. Here is the fullness in decided form in skirt, sleeves and bodice.

Little accordian-plaited jackets of soft chiffon and mousseline de sole are now threatened to replace the coattails of taffeta that have been such strong features. Evening wraps and lovely negligees are showing plaiting in either entire lengths or as ruffles on the bertha and sleeves.

As a swing of the pendulum of fashion in the opposite direction, no feature of the modes can more clearly exemplify the vagaries than the plaited dresses that are invading the realm of dress. But one thing must be remembered. Fullness there is in all the new frocks, but balloon skirts are not the type to which we have resorted. There is still the straight line of the figure to be adhered to, and it must be admitted that the designers have given fullness in the plaiting without bulkiness, flowing lines without ugliness and a change without the usual shock.

SIMPLE FLY CATCHER

The advantage of this little contrivance is that it is neither sticky or unsightly. It consists of an egg cup with a shell from which the boiled egg has been removed, and in its place half-filled with a decoction of quassia chips well sweetened with brown sugar and treacle. The flies will be attracted by the sweetness and will be poisoned by the quassia; the shell can then be easily destroyed and replaced by another.

MUCH VIRTUE IN REST ROOM

Part of Home That Must Not Be Overlooked and Is Deserving of a Lot of Attention.

The rest room is one of the latest contributions to the wearing life of today, or, rather, is an alleviation of that state, giving opportunities to those who want quietude to obtain it within bounds of their own domains, instead of seeking it elsewhere. How is it to be made?

In Germany what is called the enclosed "sun parlor" is an excellent resource. An outdoor sitting room is constructed on any wide balcony or veranda, and fitted with glass screens. These are adjusted so that the sitting room may be used all the year round, and even in summer, and more particularly at the seaside, are a protection against too strong breezes. The screens, it should be mentioned, are made so as to fold backward and forward, and should have green shades. Japanese lanterns serve for a decoration and for lighting at night, and the big leaved plants make a cool background.

In an enclosed rest room grass matting is suitable and cool on the floor, and long cushioned lounges and armchairs, including a rocking chair, invite one to repose.

For breakfast, afternoon tea and the picnic luncheon such a room is an ideal one, as well as for the rest cure.

Never Too Late to Learn.

In his seventy-fifth year Mr. J. H. Robinson, a retired cotton worker of Preston, Lancashire, England, has passed in elementary French at evening classes. He took up the study on his retirement 18 months ago and has never missed a class or been late since. His home work was highly commended.

HIT BUCHANAN IN M'NAMARA PLOTS

Illinois Congressman Charged With Implication in Strike Attacks.

SAYS HE PAID LABOR SLUGGERS

Letters Purporting to Be From U. S. Representative to San Quentin Prisoner to Be Offered as Evidence.

Washington, Sept. 10.—Charges purporting to connect directly Representative Frank Buchanan of Illinois with acts of labor violence in Ohio and Pennsylvania in conjunction with J. J. McNamara, now serving a prison term in California for the Los Angeles dynamiting, will be filed today with the senate sub-committee on Judiciary by Walter Drew of the National Erectors' association. Buchanan was formerly president of the International Association of Structural Bridge and Iron Workers.

The new charges embody a letter declared to have been written by Buchanan to McNamara in which the Illinois congressman said that two dissatisfied workers in the Toledo labor troubles in 1906 who were threatening trouble "had nothing on him and let them do their worst to me."

"Snakes" on the Job.

The charges also deal with the case of a man named McIlwaine, who wrote to the international, while Buchanan, was president, saying that "snakes" were working on a job at Abrams on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad, and that fifteen of the "snakes" had been sent to the hospital, but that the railroad was getting more and giving them protection.

It is charged that President Buchanan advanced $500 bail money for McIlwaine when he was arrested, and the minutes of the international are reproduced showing the record of this transaction. One of Buchanan's later reports is quoted as stating that he had arrived at Philadelphia and met Business Agent McIlwaine.

In connection with labor trouble in Cincinnati, while Buchanan was president of the international, additional charges are made.

Aftermath of Hearings.

The new developments are the aftermath of hearings on the revision of the federal injunction statute held by the sub-committee in Washington on June 13 and August 13 of this year, in which a letter dated 1906 from J. J. McNamara to M. F. Ryan, both officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was filed by Attorneys Drew and James Amery containing the statement that ex-President Buchanan authorized Brother McIlwaine to do some "missionary work in Toledo."

The letter stated that McIlwaine thought $150 would be sufficient for the work and that he had secured four men, among them two named Borden and Elsemore. After going to Toledo and returning to Cleveland these two men were arrested for assault committed in Toledo. After a trial by a jury, which resulted in a disagreement, the men pleaded guilty and were sentenced to six months in jail.

According to McNamara's letter to Ryan, Elsemore received $321 and Borden $316 for their time and trouble. They were dissatisfied with this payment, according to McNamara.

In a statement before the senate committee on August 13, Representative Buchanan said:

Calls Statement Untrue.

"If the statement is correct that McNamara wrote such a letter at that time, he wrote what was not true. The only money that I authorized to be spent was in the way of organization, which I had authority to do only when authorized to do so by the convention."

40,000 CHINESE PERISH

Typhoon and Tidal Waves Sweep Chekiang Province.

Disaster Occurred August 29, But, Owing to Lack of Communication, Just Becoming Known.

Shanghai, Sept. 10.—A devastating typhoon, accompanied by heavy rains and high tides, amounting to almost tidal waves, has piled up a death toll of between 30,000 and 40,000 inhabitants of the province of Chekiang, according to mail advices just received here from Wenchow, the capital of the province.

According to these reports, the disaster occurred August 29, but Wenchow has been completely cut off by rail and wire communication since the flood, and couriers brought out the first stories of the storm. Chekiang has a population of 12,000,000 and one town, Tsingtien, is reported to have been overwhelmed by floods and its 10,000 inhabitants drowned. Various other towns were wiped out.

Newspaper Man Kills Self.

Gravesend, England, Sept. 10.—Charles C. Boucher, connected with the Paris bureau of the New York Herald, was found dead in a hotel here, a pipe attached to a gas jet in his mouth. When he retired Boucher apparently was in the best of spirits.

VEDRINES WINS BENNETT TROPHY

Frenchman Breaks All Records in Flight for World Honor.

FLIES 105.5 MILES AN HOUR

Attempted No Exhibition Flying, But Attended Strictly to the Business in Hand—Aviator Deaf When Flight Is Finished.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—The hard-driving Frenchman Jules Vedrines, with the big Deperdussin monoplane, broke all American records when he won the Gordon Bennett cup here after a sensational flight in 70 minutes and 56.85 seconds. The distance was 124.8 miles, in 30 laps of 4.14 miles each. Vedrines covered the course without a hitch. A great crowd of people watched the race from the parking spaces, and many thousands viewed it from positions all around the course, having been prevented from entering the field by meet officials. After he had completed his distance Vedrines flew an extra lap, finishing the total distance in 73 minutes and 17.37 seconds. It was a remarkable performance, chiefly because of its tremendous speed, the distance being covered at the rate of 104 miles an hour. At its conclusion he landed in front of the crowd and threw up a big dust cloud that was taken for the moment to indicate an accident, but the Frenchman stepped out of the smother smiling happily and bowing to the women who cheered him.

Maurice Prevost, another member of the French team, completed the course in 1 hour 13 minutes 10.82 seconds. No other contestants completed the course. Andre Frey, the third member of the French team, came to earth on his twenty-third lap, but he was already hopelessly beaten by Prevost, who flew low and steadily and made a beautiful race. Hits Air Pocket.

It was an enthusiastic crowd and ten times as many would have been present but for the execrable transportation arrangements. Following the race Vedrines said: "There is an air pocket at the northeast end of the course that cost me minutes. There is one spot over there that dropped me every time I struck it. The fastest time I ever made, 109 miles an hour, would have been beaten here if it had not been for this one spot. My best official time is 106 miles an hour."

Vedrines was stone deaf when he completed his sensational dash. He recovered under medical treatment in twenty minutes.

105 1/2 Miles an Hour.

Vedrines' average speed for the entire distance was officially recorded as 105 1/2 miles an hour. While some laps were made in poorer time than others, the daring flyer on certain of his laps around the 4.14 mile course exceeded his own world's record of 106 miles an hour. His best time was made on the eighteenth lap, which was done in 2:18, or at the rate of 108 miles an hour. Vedrines started at 9:30 a. m. and finished at 10:44.

Vedrines' machine lifted from earth at exactly 9:30 a. m., and almost immediately attained a high rate of speed. His propeller spun furiously as he hurtled through the air and its drone rose superior to all other sounds on the field. He took his turns, masterfully banking at each of the steel pylons. Some of his turns were so sharp and sudden as to cause gasps from the watching crowd.

Lives Up to His Name.

Throughout it all the "speed king" lived up to his name. At 10:08 he had covered half the distance—62 miles—in 35:40.20 and was momentarily increasing his desperate speed. On the seventeenth lap his average was 104 miles an hour, according to announcements made to spectators by megaphone artists.

Vedrines attempted no exhibition flying; he took no chances. Never at any time was he more than 50 feet above the earth and despite the noise of the crowd and the blaring of bands he kept his eyes rigidly before him.

DONATING NEWSPAPER SPACE

Giving Away That Which He Sell to Live Brings to the Publisher Abuse.

The Milwaukee Free Press publishes the following editorial concerning the giving away of newspaper space, and it just about coincides with the situation in a good many towns and cities beside Milwaukee. I say:

Advertising publicity is what a newspaper has to sell. It is as much a commodity marked with a price as the wares in a dry goods store. Yet thousands of citizens would not think of asking a merchant to give them as much as a necktie, and yet they have no compunction in asking that an advertisement be given them by a newspaper. The thought doesn't even enter their heads that every inch of space so given, in addition to providing them with the most valuable service, actually costs the newspaper in editorial labor, in composition, in metal, in ink, in stereotyping, printing, etc., a very definite sum of money.

Yet in the vast majority of cases this generous service is blissfully taken for granted and the paper's liberality abused. That which is purely a favor is accepted as a matter of course and what should be requests are couched as demands.

When the courtesy has been performed there is rarely appreciation, and more often dissatisfaction—generally silence.

HARMON

Harmon, Sept. 10.—The ground is so dry and hard that the farmers are unable to do their fall plowing. It is killing work on a team this hot weather as the ground breaks in hard lumps. If it does not rain there will not be much fall plowing done. Some want to sow rye and may sow some all wheat if it gets so they can work the ground.

Notwithstanding the dry time corn seems to be maturing very fast and will make a very good crop if there is no killing frost, until the middle of October, as there was some corn planted late owing to the seed being over some were obliged to plant over two or three times to get a stand and that is late but the early planting is early out of the way of frost, now here are some fine fields of early corn.

The dry, hot weather is making the pastures short about Harmon. Some are obliged to take their stock out of the pastures and feed them.

Surface water is becoming scarce. All of the streams are very low, some having no running water in them.

The well men have been having a rush of work this warm, dry weather to keep the people's pumps and windmills going as surface water is very scarce. All the ponds are drying up and the small streams do not have enough water to supply the stock so that it is very necessary to keep the pumps in order.

1911 WHEAT WILL NOT GROW.

Farmers Submit It to Several Tests and Find It Is of Poor Quality.

Sterling Standard: Last year's wheat will not grow. A number of farmers in this part of the county have submitted the wheat raised in 1911 to tests and in each instance only about ten per cent of it will germinate.

Some of the farmers around Sterling intended to sow considerable wheat this fall and many of them had prepared the ground and were ready to plant, but have desisted for the time being until they can test their grain.

W. F. Flock, the local seed man, is testing some of the grain he has on hand, but the test is not far enough advanced to know the result. He also offers the use of his tester to farmers who desire to use it, and it will be well if all who intend putting in a wheat crop this fall will make the test before they waste the grain for seeding.

It was known that a part of the 1911 crop of wheat was worthless for seed on account of its being exposed to so much moisture as to partly germinate. But it was supposed, until recent tests were made, that wheat that had been threshed before the rains was all right for seed.

GOODWIN IN PICTURES.

The recent accident to Nat C. Goodwin will with all possibilities prevent him from returning to the stage for several seasons. This has caused a great deal of interest in the motion picture production of Oliver Twist, with Mr. Goodwin as Fagin. There will be 5000 feet of film, giving an hour and a half performance. This fact enables the management to give but one performance each night. The performance will begin at 8:15 sharp. At the opera house Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

FAMILY THEATRE

The Twin City Quartet and Mabel Elaine are the vaudeville attractions for the first of the week at the Family and Mabel Elaine is a good singer and most graceful dancer and she received much applause. The members of the quartet possess excellent voices and they harmonize beautifully, but should take a friendly tip and "cut the comedy," for they are not comedians and some of the would-be funny parts are exceedingly tiresome. The pictures last evening were excellent.

CHAPTER XV.

Discoveries.

The sunlight of another crystalline day had made a path of gold across the floor and half way up the wall when Philip roused himself from what he had intended to make the merest catnap on one of the bunks, and with difficulty rubbed his eyes open. The savour of something good to eat was already in his nostrils.

"Why—What's the Matter, Philip?"

Jeanne, with her back to him, was bending over the fire, busy with the breakfast. She heard him stirring, and looked around.

"Oh, I'm sorry," she said. "I didn't mean to bang that pan down that way. I meant you to go on sleeping for hours and hours."

Looking fairly at him as he sat there on the bunk she saw his hands clutch tightly over the edge of it; saw the color go ebbling out of his face and then come surging back again. She had seen him do that once before.

"Why—what's the matter, Philip?" she asked.

"It's just the wonder of you," he said slowly; "of waking up to find you here, busy about this home of ours—as if—as if it were all true. I've been very deep asleep."

"You'd better get ready for breakfast," she said, in a tone whose matter-of-fact infection was a little exaggerated. "It's nearly ready."

When they had finished, and while they still sat face to face across the board plank which had served them for a table, Cayley leaned forward a little and, smiling, asked a question.

"What's the secret, Jeanne? Your eyes have been shining with mystery ever since we sat down here."

She laughed. "You're much too penetrating. I didn't mean you even to dream there was a mystery to penetrate. But—well, it's time to tell you now, any way."

She, too, leaned forward a little and shook her head at him with a tantalizing air of triumph.

"You didn't find the thing you were looking for last night in father's journal—the place where they hid the stores, I mean."

"Oh, but I did!" he cried. "I only wanted to give you time to eat a necessary and sensible breakfast before I spoke of it. I had it on the tip of my tongue to suggest that we set about finding it in good earnest, when I saw, in your eyes, that you had a mystery of your own."

It was evident from the look in those eyes now that she was both surprised and puzzled.

"You found it last night!" she exclaimed. "Found it in the journal, and then never went to look at it!"

"Why, I found an unmistakable reference to it, and though the exact location wasn't given, it was plain that three or four hours' exploring by daylight would enable us to find it. But even if I hadn't mislaid leaving you asleep here, unprotected, in the hut, I doubt very much if I could have found it at night. But what's the mystery you were about to reveal to me?"

"No," she said; "tell me more about your discovery first. What was the reference in the journal?"

He rose and took down from the shelf the big leather-bound volume which was proving itself, with every hour, their greatest treasure.

"It's over here, toward the end," he said, "in that last winter when the Walrus came—oh, here we are."

He seated himself on the bunk beside her, and began to read.

"March 10th.—We have just spent an arduous and fearful week upon the task of unloading the wreck of the whaler. The weather has been severe—bitterly cold (—16 degrees Fahrenheit being the mildest)—and three-quarters of a gale blowing most of the time. The men are inclined to be rebellious over my driving them out to work in such weather, but I dared not wait for it to moderate."

"When the ice opens round the whaler, she will go down like a plummet; and if that event should have happened before we unloaded her of her stores, our plight would have been utterly desperate. Of stores in the ordinarily accepted sense, she had but a scanty supply, and those of a miserably inferior description; but she contained half a cargo of whale oil in barrels, which now that they are landed will settle the problem of fuel for us as long as the last survivor of our company can hope to remain alive. And fuel is, after all, the only necessity which this land itself does not supply us with. Of course we shall have to forego the delights of bear steak when our ammunition gives out, but walruses can kill with harpoons. And with these and scurvy-grass, which we gather in the valley every summer, there is no danger of actual starvation."

"We hoisted the barrels of blubber out of the whaler's hold with a hand tackle, sledged them ashore along the floe and the crown of the glacier to Moseley's cave, which seemed to be the most convenient place to store them temporarily."

Cayley laid down the book and turned to the girl.

"That's the place, I'm perfectly sure," he said. "It evidently faces the glacier, but it must be very near the beach, for they wouldn't have hauled those barrels any further than necessary."

"Is that all he says about it?"

"It's all he says directly, but there's a reference just a little further along which made me all the surer I was right. Let's see."

He opened the book again and ran his eye down the page. "—A hundred-weight or so of spermaceti and two barrels of sperm oil we took directly to the hut—here, this is what I was looking for."

"The knowledge we get by experience often comes too late to be of any great service to us. I made some mistakes in stripping the Phoenix, which I should not repeat now. For instance, carrying her pilot house, with infinite labor, up to the cliff-head for an observatory. It's thoroughly impracticable for this purpose. I doubt if I have visited it three times since Mr. Moseley's death."

"He was the astronomer and botanist of father's expedition," said the girl.

Cayley read on: "But now that I have learned my lesson, I have but little to apply the knowledge to. The Walrus is, I believe, the most utterly wretched hulk that ever sailed the seas—ill-found, decrepit, dirty and literally rotting to pieces. We shall, however, get enough planks and timbers out of her to build a shed or two near the hut, for the more convenient storage of our supplies."

Again he closed the book. "That's what I was looking for," he said. "You see they brought that stuff down from the cave to these sheds; so the cave would be almost inevitably the first hiding place they would think of when the sight of the Aurora drove them to hustle everything out of sight."

"Whereabout on the cliff is the observatory, Philip?"

"I was wondering about that. I've flown across the cliff a number of times, but have never seen anything of it. He may have wrecked it; taken it down and used it for some other purpose."

"No," she said; "he'd hardly have had time for that. There weren't many more pages to write in the journal when he made that entry."

She fell then into a little abstracted silence, which the man did not know how to break. But presently she roused herself and came fully back to the present, back to him.

"Did you succeed in accounting for the thing you asked me about last night, the mark on the map right here where they built the hut afterward?"

"I didn't find anything about it in the journal, but this morning, before breakfast, when I went outside the hut, one glance at the fact of the cliff accounted for it fully. The cliff is split right here, from top to bottom, by a deep, narrow fissure. The fissure is full of ice, which I suppose hasn't melted for a thousand years. No summer that they could have in a high latitude like this would ever melt it, certainly."

The girl laughed and rose from her place at the rude table.

"Well," she asked, "are you ready for my discovery now?"

She took down his pocket electric bulb-eye from the shelf behind her, held out a hand to him and, on tip-toe, led him, with a burlesque exaggeration of mystery, out into the store-room. As completely mystified in reality as she playfully pretended to want him to be, Cayley followed.

She went straight across the store-room to the rear wall of the hut, the wall that backed squarely against the sheer surface of the cliff, flashed on the bulb-eye for a second, apparently to make sure that she had chosen the right point in the wall, then, letting go his hand, she stooped and picked up a stick of fire-wood which lay at her feet. With this she struck pretty hard upon the planking. The sound which the blow gave forth was as hollow as a drum.

Cayley started. "A cave!" he exclaimed. "A cave here!—Oh, I see. It's a cold cellar they made by cutting a hole in the ice that filled the fissure. And why do you suppose they boarded it up?"

The girl laughed delightedly. Evidently she had not, as yet, developed the whole of her discovery. She flashed on the light again.

"Look!" she commanded.

In the center of a little circle of wall which the bulb-eye now illuminated Cayley saw the barrel of a rusty hinge.

"You see," she went on, "it's a door, and they only nailed it up the other day. There's a nail-head somewhere here that's quite bright. I caught the glint of it while I was rummaging before breakfast, and that was what made me look."

Cayley darted back into the living room, returning almost instantly with the broken-handled pick.

In less than a minute, with a protesting squawk, the rude door swung open, and they saw before them just what Cayley had predicted. A rather high, but narrow cavity, the sides of which were the naked rock of the cliff, but the floor and ceiling solid ice.

Despite the fact that the girl's excitement over the discovery of the cave had, for a moment, carried Cayley along with it, he was not greatly surprised, and not at all cast down when, at the end of five minutes of hasty exploration, it was made evident to them that the ample supply of stores which they sought was not to be found here.

Jeanne herself would not, perhaps, have entertained so high a hope had she learned of the reference to the other cave which Cayley found in the journal before she herself had chanced upon the mouth of this one. As it was, his theory that the stores were to be found in a cave vaguely situated along the glacier, made little impression upon her, she was so sure that they had been right here, under their hands.

When their investigation made it clear that whether he was right or not, certainly she was wrong, she was bitterly disappointed. Cayley was aware of that, even as they stood here, side by side, with no light to see her face by. She said nothing, or very little, but he knew, nevertheless, that for just this moment all the life and courage had gone out of her; knew that the slight figure 'here, so close beside him, was drooping, trembling a little.

He laid a steady hand upon her shoulder. Almost instantly, under his touch, she turned to him, caught with both hands at the unbuttoned edges of the rough woolen jacket he wore, and, sobbing a little now and then, but otherwise in silence, simply clung to him.

He did not offer, with his arms, to draw her any closer, to turn what was a mere instinctive appeal to the protection of his strength and courage, into an embrace. He kept a hand on each of her shoulders, more by way of support than anything else, and waited a moment before he spoke.

"After all," he said at last, "what we've got here is just so much clear gain, and it will be immensely valuable to us, though it isn't what we expected. The fact that it is their superfluity, the things they hadn't any particular or immediate use for, doesn't make what we've found here any the less valuable to us. That pile of bear skins there will supply what is, at this moment, the most vital of our wants. That big sack appears to contain feathers; and those walrus tusks will serve any number of purposes—forks and spoons for one thing. As to that great lump of spermaceti, it will keep us supplied with candles all through the winter. I can't imagine why they didn't use it themselves, except on the theory that the longer they lived here, the more they grew like beasts; the more content with the beast's habit of life, and the more inert about taking the trouble to provide themselves with such of the comforts and decencies of life as they might have had. So you see, we may find among the things they had no use for the very ones that will help us most."

The cutting in the ice did not go very far back in the fissure, and they were soon at the end of it, and without having made any new discovery of importance, either. There was a little of cast-off articles of various sorts, chiefly clothing which future privations might make useful to them. There was a great frozen lump of brownish-green vegetation, which they afterward identified as the edible scurvy grass to which Captain Fielding had referred in his journal.

That was all, or they thought it was, but just as they were about to retrace their steps to the hut, Cayley happened to glance up. The roof of the cave was not very much higher than it had to be to permit him to stand erect in it, something under seven feet; but here at the further end of it he saw a circular, chimney-like hole, about two feet in diameter, leading straight upward through the solid ice in the fissure.

COMPTON.

Sept. 10.—W. A. Weber was a business visitor in Amboy last Saturday.

Arthur Wells and his helpers have been making rapid progress with the new cement walks the past week and with a few more days of good weather they will soon have the job completed and Compton will have cement walks on every street.

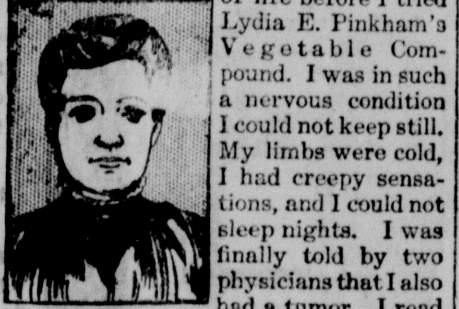

The tent meetings which are being held on Compton's lots, are greeted with large audiences each night. Rev. Little is a good speaker and his lectures are all very interesting to hear. The meetings will be continued to Sept. 15th.

MRS. GREATON'S AWFUL EXPERIENCE

During Change of Life—How
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made
Her a Well Woman.

Natick, Mass. — "I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it has worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—MRS. MARION SWEET GREATON, No. 1 Jefferson St., Natick, Mass.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the joy and pride of every housekeeper. It is hard to keep a stove nice and shiny—unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used. Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the iron. It doesn't rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish one-fourth as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. If you do not find it better than any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of other satisfied women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind. Keep your grates, registers, fenders and stove pipes bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK ANTI-RUSTING ENAMEL. Brush free with each can of enamel one.

Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silverware, nickel, tinware or brass. It shines quickly, easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

And Return Every Four Weeks.

CONSULTATION AND ADVICE FREE.

Consult me in strictest confidence if you are afflicted with any contracted or inherited disease. Many men from fear that their troubles may become known by consulting a physician neglects the early symptoms of disease which if properly treated in the beginning would avert a serious chronic malady and save themselves much trouble, time, money, and annoyance in after years. I have cured hundreds of men of diseases that were thought incurable, and if you have been unsuccessfully treated don't lose hope of recovery until you have seen me and gotten my opinion of your case, and I tell you that your malady is an incurable one I will be frank with you and if I see that I can do you no good will tell you so. I never hold out false hopes to incurables. Charges are reasonable, my cures are lasting and I ask you to pay for results only.

WEAK MEN
Cured Secretly
What I want is men who have tried in vain to be made strong again. I desire to explain why and how any such case can be quickly relieved, and speedily cured by my methods, which can be done in most instances in a few weeks at longest and in any case for a small outlay of money at most.

LOST VITALITY
Cured in a few weeks. Improvements from the start. If you suffer from loss of energy and ambition, feel tired when you arise in the morning, lame back, blindness or spots before the eyes, and feel you were not the man you once were, I will cure you for life.

VARIKOSE—Knotted Veins
Cured by absorption, no pain. The enlarged veins are due to pumps, bicycle or horseback riding, etc.

I do Not Patch UP—I cure Forever

Dr. Guthrie will be in his office, Corner 1st. Ave. and 3rd St. Sterling on Saturday, Sept. 14th from 10 a.m. to 8 p. m.

Rebels Menace American Town.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 10.—Gen. Inez Salazar, rebel commander, who has been deprecating along the international border, has reached San Bernardino ranch, only a few miles from Douglas, Ariz., opposite Prieta, are greatly alarmed, although the federal commander in the Mexican town says he will take his troops to meet the attackers a few miles out to avoid the danger of stray bullets crossing into Douglas. The garrison numbers 200 men, with a machine gun.

On the attitude of Americans in Sonora towns depends their safety, according to Frank U. Borgeson of Nacozari, who arrived on the border, after walking two days. This statement is the result of a long conversation of Borgeson with Gen. Antonio Rojas.

The rebel leader stated that if the Americans at Nacozari or elsewhere took no part in the defense of the town, Americans in outlying districts would be safe, but if Americans took part all Americans met by the rebels would be treated as enemies and executed.

General Emilio Campa, who captured a train near Naco, Sonora, used the locomotive for pulling down telegraph poles after his men had roped them. He is also burning all bridges on the Naco-Cananea line.

Campa denied that rebels were outraging women and said he was executing every man who harmed a woman. He said he would give protection to Americans if they would not fight with the federals or if the United States did not intervene. In case of intervention, he said, Americans would have to take the consequences. He declared the United States had no business intervening in a purely Mexican matter and ended: "I warn you not to."

Ammunition sent from the San Antonio arsenal for the Americans at Nacozari, Cananea and El Tigre is being guarded by troops at Douglas until that can be safely sent to the beleaguered Americans.

Quiet in Nicaragua.

Washington, Sept. 10.—With telegraphic and railroad communication once more intact and five American war vessels patrolling the coast, Rear Admiral Southerland reported to the navy department that he thought he had the Nicaraguan situation very well in hand and that he did not expect any more outbreaks.

American troops have penetrated far into the interior and are guarding foreign property there, while American ships are patrolling the Gulf of Fonseca to prevent filibustering expeditions crossing from San Salvador.

Princeton Defeats Harvard.

Philadelphia, Sept. 10.—Princeton won the Clothier tennis cup and the inter-collegiate tennis championship by defeating Harvard in the doubles. J. B. Mace and B. M. Church of Princeton beat W. M. Washburn and E. B. Whitney, Harvard 8-10, 10-8, 6-2.

Secret Agent Charges Rebels Would Force American Troops to Cross Border.

WOULD OCCUR IN 72 HOURS

Brings Report of Plots Against America and Expects Taft to Call Congress at Once to Order the Invasion.

Washington, Sept. 10.—Alarming news was brought to Washington by one of the government's secret diplomatic agents who arrived here from Chihuahua for a conference with state department officials. He makes the prophecy that the rebels along the border are preparing to force American troops to cross the Mexican line and that their depredations would bring this about within seventy-two hours.

Immediately following this, he says, President Taft will be compelled to convene congress in special session to consider a message recommending immediate intervention to protect the lives of American citizens.

Mexican Rebels in Hot Attack.

Presidio, Tex., Sept. 10.—Four hundred Mexican rebels are attacking Ojinaga, just across the line from this town. Ojinaga is being defended by 300 federals under General Santos. A bullet from the Mexican side struck an American in the hip here and a force of American troops, accompanied by several officers, left Marfa, Tex., several miles north of here, for Presidio.

Ojinaga was taken several days ago by a party of rebels from General Salazar's force, but General Santos came up from the rear with his force of federals and drove the insurgents from the town. Eight hundred rebels are rushing to the aid of their companions from Cuchillo Parado, and 1,000 federals are reported coming to reinforce Santos from Coyame.

AUTO RACES AT ILLINOIS FAIR

Elaborate Program Prepared for Automobile Day.

DAREDEVIL DRIVERS TO RACE

Disbrow, Nikrent, "Wild Bill" Endicott and Others Will Thrill the Spectators in Hair-Raising Auto Contests.

The automobile racing program that will bring the 1912, Oct. 4-12, Illinois State Fair to a close on Saturday, Oct. 12, will be on the most elaborate lines ever attempted on a circular dirt track.

Instead of one star, as has been the case the last two years, there will be several drivers of note headed by such men as Louis Disbrow, the youngest and most successful of this year's crop of stars.

At least eight races will be included on the program in which cash prizes will be given away and other inducements offered to bring to the Illinois State Fair men who have never been seen there before.

Disbrow will bring with him the famous Simplex Zip racer which he has used in all of his record trials and big open races this year. Only a few days ago he won everything in sight at Galveston, and defeated one of the largest fields of "devil" drivers that ever faced a starter's flag.

Disbrow was dubbed "The Only Pebble on the Beach" by a southern newspaper writer, and considering the evidence that he has piled up on three beaches in the last two years the title comes pretty near fitting the little speed hero.

On the Pablo beach at Jacksonville, Fla., last spring a year ago, Disbrow defeated a field of stars which included Bob Burman and other noted daredevils, and established a series of space eating records that still stand. He lowered the world's 150, 200, 250 and 300-mile marks, and set a limit of 81 miles for an hour's driving which still holds good.

Disbrow holds the world's records for 15, 20, 25 and 50 miles, and if he has the proper conditions he will go after another world's figure at the Illinois State Fair.

One of the drivers that Disbrow will have to go against at the Illinois State Fair will be Joe Nikrent of California. Joe has several world's marks to his credit, and he has won practically every track race he started in this year. He finished second to Ralph DePalma in the Santa Monica race, and the following day beat the wonderful little Dago on the Los Angeles motordrome and lowered the world's record for 25 miles.

Nikrent first gained fame as a Buick driver and it was while piloting this car that he won the famous Los Angeles to Phoenix race. He has to his credit seven world's records and he expects to win his share of prize money at the Illinois State Fair meet. "Wild Bill" Endicott and other noted daredevils who have been instrumental in bringing the name of the American driver to the front in the speed world, will also be seen at the Illinois State Fair.

The freakiest looking machine that will take part in the meet will be the 290-horsepower Jay-Eye-See racer. This car is the largest in the speed game, and is the most formidable looking. It will be driven in the time trials.

The third annual running for the Illinois State championship $600 trophy will stir up rivalry between the state clubs as usual, and Springfield will again make a strong bid for the cup. This is a 20-mile race. Half a dozen cities are counted on to fight for it.

GIRLS AND BOYS.

Domestic Science for the Girls and a Boys' State Fair School.

The Illinois State Fair was the pioneer in promoting special instruction for girls and young women in a domestic science school during the state fair. Also in providing practical lessons for farm boys on the fair grounds.

On the domestic science school the ladies must be over 18 years old and one is admitted from each county. At a cost of $8 for board during the two weeks' session, a girl can get a good idea of cooking, sanitary house-keeping and personal hygiene. Able instructors are employed for this purpose. Each pupil must bring her own toilet articles, napkin ring, a white apron and kitchen aprons, and a blanket and spread for her single bed. The pupils have sleeping quarters in the Women's building in the fair grounds, with ample police protection. Miss Laura A. Gonterman, secretary, Edwardsville, will give full information.

The boys' state fair school is in charge of Dr. John Dill Robertson, for the Board of Agriculture, Superintendent of Public Instruction F. G. Blair, and Col. Chas. F. Mills of Springfield, who is the secretary.

The third annual session will open on the state fair grounds, Springfield, on Oct. 5, and last until Oct. 12. In 1910 125 boys enrolled, and 1911, 194 registered. It is of tremendous educational value to the boys of Illinois who live on farms, or contemplate entering that profession. Tents and bedding are furnished by Adj. Gen. Dickson, of the state militia, and there are four mess tents and one large tent for lectures and meetings. Gov. Deneen has taken a personal interest in the boys' school from its inception.

Two boys are admitted from each of 101 counties and eighteen from Cook county. They must be from 15 to 21 years old. Each boy must pay his railroad fare and pay $5 for board and incidentals, and provide sheets, towels, and soap. Further information given on application to Secretary Mills.

A fleet of airships in the air at one time at Illinois State Fair, every day except Sunday. Funny mule races every day.

30,000 VOICES!

And Many Are The Voices of Dixon People

Thirty thousand voices — what a grand chorus! And that's the number of American men and women who are publicly praising Doan's Kidney Pills for relief from backache, kidney and bladder ills. They say it to friends. They tell it in the homes papers. Dixon people are in this chorus. Here's a Dixon case.

Mrs. Emile Bott, 811 College Ave Dixon, Ill., says, "We recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly now as we did some years ago when we first gave a public statement in their praise. I was rheumatic and most of the pain was through my back and kidneys. At night I didn't sleep well and in the morning was all tired out. I was also nervous and dizzy and my kidneys were out of order. I tried different remedies but was not helped until I used Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug Store. They made me strong and well."

Italian Killed in Rockford.
Rockford, Sept. 10.—With a bullet through his stomach and liver Vitto Vitello, an Italian laborer, was found on Cunningham street. He died at the Rockford hospital. The killing was due to a quarrel between Vitto and his brother, Joe, who were joint owners of a shanty, as to the price Joe should receive for his share. A third brother, Peter, was also present and declares that although Joe shot his brother, he did so in self-defense. The police are searching for Joe Vitello who has left the city. Peter says that Vitto was the aggressor, leaving the shanty to get a gun with which to enforce his bargain and that Joe did not shoot until Vitto had fired several times.

Escapes From Angry Mob.
Rockford, Sept. 10.—Pursued by an angry mob of Italians after he had run over and cut off both legs of a three-year-old boy, Motorman Louis Bengstrom of the South Main street line saved his own life because of his fleetness on foot. The boy was John Piccho, 1227 West street, and he ran in front of the car, being ground under the wheels before Bengstrom could stop the car. The child died later at the hospital. The motorman ran nearly ten blocks with several hundred yelling foreigners at his heels and finally took shelter in the police patrol which had been summoned to the scene.

Boy Scout a Life Saver.
Shawneetown, Sept. 10.—Read Rowan, fifteen-year-old son of J. L. Rowan, a Boy Scout, saved the life of Clifford Stoker, ten years old, by plunging from a ferry boat and rescuing the younger boy, who had fallen from the boat, after Stoker had gone under the third time. His act of heroism will be brought to the attention of the Carnegie Hero Fund association.

Illinois Central Train Kills Boy.
Vandalia, Sept. 10.—Edward Woolsey, twenty-one years old, was run over by an Illinois Central train. Both legs were cut off above the knees. He died two hours later. He said his shoes hurt his feet and he took them off and sat down beside the track to rest and went to sleep. He said he did not know he had been run over by a train.

Man Accidentally Kills Self.
Joliet, Sept. 10.—Winfield Blood, aged thirty-eight, accidentally shot and killed himself while hunting south of Joliet. The trigger of his shotgun is supposed to have become caught while Blood was climbing through a barbed wire fence. His hand was blown off by the shot.

Becomes Insane From Heat.
Springfield, Sept. 10.—Frank Mowry, employed at a shoe factory, lost his mind. Physicians say the intense heat is responsible. Mowry is the fourth person in Springfield whose reason has given away on account of the unseasonable weather. Four others have died.

COLONEL MAKES VOTES

Stampedes Women of Spokane to Registration Booths.

Scolds Them for Not Registering and They Make a Wild Rush to Qualify for Ballot.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 10.—A stampede of recreant women to get their names down on the voting lists was started by Colonel Roosevelt here as an incident of a day of heroic campaigning.

The ex-president, undergoing the unique experience of talking to audiences made up entirely of women—something he timidly approached—startled the suffragettes by frigidly declaring that women who, having the right to vote, fail to use it, are hurting their cause.

"Get out and register," exclaimed the colonel, in scolding tone. "If you are not false to the duties of citizenship."

The colonel had been tipped by the male leaders of the Progressive party that the women had held back from the registry places and it was their last chance to enter the lists.

As soon as the colonel left the two theaters where the women had listened to him, a mad rush of femininity for the registration places ensued. Automobiles drew up to the booths and fashionably-attired women wrote their names down on the books. A stream of women a-foot trilled to the booths until the streets were blocked. Eventually the police reserves had to be called out to clear the blockade.

LOST WHITE TRIBE FOUND

American Explorer Discovers Descendants of Norsemen in the Arctic.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 10.—In the perpetually frozen wilds of the arctic, on Victoria Island, 30 degrees east of the mouth of the Mackenzie river, Prof. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the noted American explorer sent out by the American Museum of Natural History, discovered a lost tribe of whites—none other, he declares, than descendants of the followers of the famed Lief Erickson, whom history records made his way from Greenland to Iceland about the year 1000 and a short time thereafter discovered the North American coast.

DEATH LIST IS INCREASED

Motordrome Tragedy Now Numbers Seven Among the Killed.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 10.—The death list resulting from the accident at the motordrome, when Eddie Haasha crashed into the grandstand on his machine during a motorcycle race, was increased to seven by the death in the city hospital of William Barnett of this city. Three other victims of the crash, two of them boys under fourteen years of age, are unconscious at the hospital and are not expected to survive.
